Alteration in North channel and buoy altered in position.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 146 of 1893) that the sand spit (opposite Junction buoy) on the northern side of the North channel to port Curtis has extended about 73 yards in a south-easterly direction, and that the red buoy has been moved to mark its extremity. The channel in this port being now only about 270 yards wide, Mariners should exercise caution when using it at night, and when proceeding through, Gatcombe head light (fixed white and red) should not be opened northward of Oyster rock reflected light.

RED SEA, WESTERN SHORE—MASSAWA CHANNEL, NORTHERN APPROACH.

Breakers reported in fairway.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 150 of 1893) that Mr. Kemp Saunders, commanding the S.S. Shat-el-Arab, when proceeding towards Suez from the Massawa channel, sighted breakers about 35¼ miles N. ¼ E. from Difnein island:—

A cast of the lead obtained 3½ miles N. by W. ½ W. from the breakers gave no bottom at 115 fathoms.

Approximate position of breakers, lat. 17° 13′ N., long. 39° 20½′ E.

NOTE.—This break was passed at about 2 miles distance, at noon; the appearance of the break being seen for an hour; a northerly swell prevailing. The position appears unassailable. Unless therefore the eye was deceived by fish, light, or other delusive appearances, it would appear that a most dangerous shoal exists in the very fairway of approach to Massawa channel.

Macquarie harbour—Signals from staff on west side of entrance.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 130 of 1893) that a signal staff has been erected on the bluff at the west side of the entrance to Macquarie harbour, from which the following signals are made by day :—

1. Two balls at the masthead signify :—flood tide.
2. One ball at the masthead signifies :—ebb tide.
3. A square flag at the eastern yard-arm signifies :—alter course to the eastward.
4. A square flag at the western yard-arm signifies :—alter course to the westward.

Approximate position on plan No. 1629 : lat. 42° 11′ 45″ S., long. 145° 13′ 15″ E.

NOTE.—Sailing vessels, inward bound, should not attempt to cross the bar, on the ebb tide, without a strong commanding breeze.

In fine weather the pilot boards vessels outside the bar, but in bad weather, when the pilot cannot cross the bar, vessels should steer in with the lighthouses on Entrance island and Bushy islet in line. If the vessel is steering a safe course no flags will be shown at the signal staff, but if necessary signal (3) or signal (4) will be hoisted. When the direction of the ship's head is sufficiently altered the flag will be hauled down.

When practicable the pilot will direct the vessel's course by flags from a boat. In this case vessels should steer direct for the boat, altering course if necessary towards the side of the boat on which a flag is shown.

No stranger should attempt to enter Macquarie harbour at night unless on a lee shore and unable to keep outside.

(2) Prohibited anchorage near telegraph cable.

Also that a submarine telegraph cable has been laid across Macquarie harbour entrance in the vicinity of Bushy island :—

The position of the cable is marked by a diamond shaped black beacon on the northern shore and by a diamond shaped white beacon on the southern shore.

Vessels are prohibited from anchoring in the vicinity of the cable ; and it is advisable that they should not anchor in the space enclosed between lines drawn from Wellington head and Bushy (Bonnet) island to the black telegraph beacon on the northern shore.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 25th April 1893

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 22ND OF APRIL 1893.

DURING the latter half of the previous week ordinary hot weather conditions seemed to be established over the greater part of the province, the exceptional cases occurring at the extreme northern stations where showers were falling. These showers were probably due to the approach of a low pressure area, which first began to affect the distribution in Bengal on the first day of the present week, and which passed slowly across the province, causing in some parts a defect of about 0·2 inch.

The effect of the depression was not so decided as is usual in such cases, as the rainfall was confined almost entirely to the more northern districts in North Bengal, but its influence on the wind circulation was easily traced, in the direction changing from east to west in Bihar and later in North Bengal, while the steeper gradients caused stronger southerly winds in the southern districts. Pressure was falling slowly on the first day of the week, and the fall continued more rapidly on the second day when the centre of the depression was over the Sonthal Parganas. Easterly winds were still general in Bihar on the latter day, but on the 18th they had changed to west at all the western stations, the depression having moved eastward. After the 18th pressure began to recover, but changes were nowhere large, and never were so till the end of the week. As westerly winds advanced, cloudless weather with rising temperature became general in all districts till the last day of the week, the 22nd, when showers, usually very light, fell at most of the stations in East and North Bengal.

Pressure—Has been below the normal throughout the week. A steady fall continued during the first three days and then a tendency to rise prevailed, but the changes were so small that the readings never recovered their normal values within a tenth of an inch. The means for the week are below the normal by amounts varying between 0·1 inch and 0·15 inch in all districts except Chota Nagpur and Orissa, where the mean defect is about 0·08 inch.

Temperature.—While showers were falling in East and North Bengal during the first three days of the week, temperature was below the normal in these districts by one or two degrees. In the western half of the province, however, there was excess of about the same amount. After the depression passed eastward, the westerly winds caused a rise of temperature in all districts, and readings were everywhere above the normal by between two and three degrees till the 22nd, when showers again began to fall in North and East Bengal accompanied by a lowering of the temperature. The means for the week are slightly below the normal in Orissa and North Bengal, and above in the other districts by amounts varying from 1°·2 in South-West Bengal to 2°·2 in North Bihar.

Rainfall—Has been very light in North and East Bengal and practically absent in other parts. In the north and east, as stated above, light showers fell in the early part of the week and again on the last day, but the average for North Bengal and for East Bengal only averages about 50 per cent. of the normal falls. In North Bihar and Chota Nagpur no falls were reported, while in Orissa, South-West Bengal and South Bihar the average falls were between ·01 and ·03 inch.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT.

REVISED ADVERTISEMENT.

A Dictionary of the Economic Products of India

BY DR. GEO. WATT, C.I.E.

Reporter on Economic Products.

Published under the authority of the Government of India in the Revenue and Agricultural Department.

The first five volumes of this work are now ready for issue, and intending subscribers are invited to register their names with theSuperintendent of Government Printing, Calcutta.

The first five volumes and Vol. VI, Part I, of the Dictionary are now ready at the Office of Superintendent of Government Printing, No. 8, Hastings Street, Calcutta, and will be supplied to non-subscribers on receipt of the price for the complete set, which is Rs 45 in India, and 3 guineas in England (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made) packing and postage, in India, 8 annas per volume; for England, Rs. 2-6 per volume. For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings, respectively, will be charged extra for the whole set.

The Dictionary is intended to deal with the products of India—animal, vegetable, and mineral; each product being treated after a uniform plan, the paragraphs of which give the scientific, vernacular, and European names; habitat or source; history; properties and uses (both chemical and industrial); trade statistics; markets; &c. The work is arranged alphabetically according to scientific nomenclature, but commercial and important vernacular names are also given as cross references, so that little difficulty need be experienced in finding the account of a product even when its scientific name is unknown to the reader.

An important feature of the Dictionary consists in the fact that derived information is in every instance given under quotation marks, and with a reference to the original publication. Numerous contributors have, however, furnished the results of new discoveries and confirmed the vernacular names, so that the Dictionary is not only a complete compilation of published information, but has been brought abreast of the most recent inventions and discoveries.

Volume I contains the letters A and B, and consists of 559 royal octavo pages; Vol. II embraces the letter C in 689 pages; Vol. III contains the letters D, E, F and half of G. Vol IV latter half of G to middle of L; and Vol. V contains the latter half of L to end of O; Vol. VI, which will consist of four parts) Part I contains letters P to R. The whole work will, it is expected, be completed in nine volumes (including Parts II to IV of Vol. VI) during the current year; but a tenth volume may also be issued, consisting of an Index to all the vernacular and other names contained in the Dictionary. The Index will practically be a Glossary of the vernacular and European names of the plants, animals and minerals of India, and as such will be a work of reference, which, it is hoped, may prove of considerable value.

The period of registration of subscribers' names having expired on the 1st October, the price will in future be in India Rs. 45 and in England 3 guineas, payable in advance, for the complete set (exclusive of the Index, for which a separate charge will be made). An extra charge for packing and postage will be made for the set—in India, at 8 annas per volume, and for England, at 2 rupees 6 annas per volume.

For copies bound in half calf or half morocco, Rs. 6 and 8 shillings respectively will be charged extra for the whole sets.

No copies will be issued to non-subscribers till the work is complete, and no single volume will be sold separately.

CHINA—EAST COAST—PUTOY GROUP—HONGKONG APPROACH.

Intended double flashing light and fog-signal on Wag lan islet.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 160 of 1893) of the intended exhibition of a light from a light-house now in course of construction on Wag lan islet, Putoy group, approach to Hongkong by the Tathong channel:—

Wag lan islet light will be a double flashing white light of the first order, showing flashes at intervals of half a minute. It will be elevated 225 feet above the sea, and should be visible in clear weather, where not obscured by the land, from a distance of about 21 miles.

The light-house situated on the summit of the islet will be 52 feet high, and cylindrical in shape. The lower half will be painted white, the upper half red, the lantern and keepers' dwellings, white.

Approximate position: lat. 22° 11½′ N., long. 114° 18½′ E.

Also, that on the establishment of Wag lan islet light, the keepers, on hearing a bell, horn, steam-whistle, or other sound indicating the proximity of a vessel, will fire two guns with an interval of fifteen seconds between them, and if the vessel's fog-signal—showing that she is under way—continues to be heard, the guns will be repeated after an interval of twelve minutes.

Obokh—East passage closed, and alterations in buoyage.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 145 of 1893) that the East passage to the port of Obokh being considered dangerous, the buoys previously marking it have been withdrawn.

Also that the South port (or Grand) passage is now the only available entrance to the port, and that the red buoy on the east side of that passage is now moored about three quarters of a cable S. 16° E from its heretofore charted position.

AUSTRALIA, EAST COAST—PORT CURTIS.

Alteration in North channel and buoy altered in position.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 146 of 1893) that the sand spit (opposite Junction buoy) on the northern side of the North channel to port Curtis has extended about 73 yards in a south-easterly direction, and that the red buoy has been moved to mark its extremity. The channel in this port being now only about 270 yards wide, Mariners should exercise caution when using it at night, and when proceeding through, Gatcombe head light (fixed white and red) should not be opened northward of Oyster rock reflected light.

RED SEA, WESTERN SHORE—MASSAWA CHANNEL, NORTHERN APPROACH.

Breakers reported in fairway.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 150 of 1893) that Mr. Kemp Saunders, commanding the S.S. Shat-el-Arab, when proceeding towards Suez from the Massawa channel sighted breakers about 35½ miles N. ¼ E. from Difnein island:—

A cast of the lead obtained 3½ miles N. by W. ¼ W. from the breakers gave no bottom at 115 fathoms.

Approximate position of breakers, lat. 17° 13′ N., long. 39° 20½′ E.

NOTE.—This break was passed at about 2 miles distance, at noon; the appearance of the break being seen for an hour; a northerly swell prevailing. The position appears unassailable. Unless therefore the eye was deceived by fish, light, or other delusive appearances, it would appear that a most dangerous shoal exists in the very fairway of approach to Massawa channel.

Light on Brooketon Hill.

THE following Notice to Mariners, issued by the Vice-Admiral Commanding the Naval Forces in Neth. India, No. 8, dated Batavia, the 10th March 1893, is republished for general information:—

Information has been received from H. B. M. Acting Consul at "Labuan" that on 18th October 1892 a fixed white beacon light was exhibited on Brooketon Hill, west side of approach to Bruni river. The distance that this light is visible is doubtful. It is situated $2\frac{8}{10}$ miles S. ¼ E. from Pelong rocks, in approx. lat. 5° 2′ N., long. 115° 3′ E.

A similar light is said to exist on Barram point, of which no definite information has been received.

Approx. position of Barram point: lat. 4° 37′ N., long. 113° 59′ E.

Macquarie harbour—Signals from staff on west side of entrance.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 130 of 1893) that a signal staff has been erected on the bluff at the west side of the entrance to Macquarie harbour, from which the following signals are made by day :—

1. Two balls at the masthead signify :—flood tide.
2. One ball at the masthead signifies :—ebb tide.
3. A square flag at the eastern yard-arm signifies :—alter course to the eastward.
4. A square flag at the western yard-arm signifies :—alter course to the westward.

Approximate position on plan No. 1629 : lat. 42° 11′ 45″ S., long. 145° 13′ 15″ E.

NOTE.—Sailing vessels, inward bound, should not attempt to cross the bar, on the ebb tide, without a strong commanding breeze.

In fine weather the pilot boards vessels outside the bar, but in bad weather, when the pilot cannot cross the bar, vessels should steer in with the lighthouses on Entrance island and Bushy islet in line. If the vessel is steering a safe course no flags will be shown at the signal staff, but if necessary signal (3) or signal (4) will be hoisted. When the direction of the ship's head is sufficiently altered the flag will be hauled down.

When practicable the pilot will direct the vessel's course by flags from a boat. In this case vessels should steer direct for the boat, altering course if necessary towards the side of the boat on which a flag is shown.

No stanger should attempt to enter Macquarie harbour at night unless on a lee shore and unable to keep outside.

(2) Prohibited anchorage near telegraph cable.

Also that a submarine telegraph cable has been laid across Macquarie harbour entrance in the vicinity of Bushy island :—

The position of the cable is marked by a diamond shaped black beacon on the northern shore and by a diamond shaped white beacon on the southern shore.

Vessels are prohibited from anchoring in the vicinity of the cable ; and it is advisable that they should not anchor in the space enclosed between lines drawn from Wellington head and Bushy (Bonnet) island to the black telegraph beacon on the northern shore.

An alteration has been made in the lead up stream from Fairymead wharf; the triangular beacons there (lighted at night) now lead over to a square white beacon near Rubyana wharf.

RESOLUTION ON THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE HEALTH OFFICER OF THE PORT OF CALCUTTA FOR THE YEAR 1892.

No. 1119Marine.

GOVERNMENT OF BENGAL, MARINE DEPARTMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 1st May 1893.

RESOLUTION.

READ—

A letter, No. 2586, dated 28th March 1893, from the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal, submitting the report of the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta for the year 1892.

Establishment.—Dr. Forsyth was the Health Officer of the Port of Calcutta throughout the year, except from the 3rd September to 28th October, when Surgeon Captain Green officiated for him. The work was carried out in the steam launch Relief, and in a steam cutter.

2. Inspections.—The total number of vessels inspected by the Health Officer of the Port during the year was 1,497 against 1,501, 1,394, and 1,443 in the three preceding years. Sir Charles Elliott desires that in future reports the number of vessels that entered the Port in the year should be given with the number of vessels uninspected, and the reasons for such non-inspection.

3. Ventilation of crew spaces.—The ventilation of the forecastle of iron built cargo steamers has, in a few cases, been improved, but in no instance has a wooden sheathing been laid over the iron roof.

The Health Officer writes:—"In the case of the Greenock Shipping Company, I hope that their vessels will be improved, as the Secretary was in port in April and May, and he admitted that the Managers had not the faintest idea of what life in the forecastle was in the Indian hot season; that he would on his return place my suggestions before the Manager for immediate compliance; and that, in case of additions to their fleet, he would suggest that all quarters should be built on deck. In the latest additions to the City Line of steamers, quarters for the crew are built on the upper deck. The contrast between these and the quarters on the main deck is great, and no line visiting this port give their crews such well lighted and ventilated quarters."

The question of improving the accommodation for the crew of such steamers has been referred to the Government of India, in the Finance and Commerce Department, with the suggestion that the Board of Trade should be moved to endeavour to give effect to Dr. Forsyth's suggestions for sheathing the forecastle deck, and for improving the ventilation of, and providing a double awning with side curtains for, the forecastle. If the Board of Trade refuse to insist on these alterations being made, the Lieutenant Governor is of opinion that it will be necessary to amend the Indian Ports Act of 1889 so far as to enable the Local Government to insist on such temporary alterations being made, while the vessel is in port, as will meet the requirements of the case.

4. Bathing accommodation for native crews.—The provision of a protected bathing place is being carried out on nearly all vessels coming to the port.

5. Sickness and mortality among European seamen.—The number of European seamen who arrived in the Port during the year was 21,635, against 21,505 and 19,496 in the two preceding years, and the daily average number in Port was 2,133 against 1,420 and 1,679. Including deaths out of hospital, the death rate per mille during the year was 11·72. Of this 3·28 was from cholera and 8·44 from other causes. The Lieutenant-Governor views with great satisfaction this low death-rate, which is the lowest on record.

The total number of natural deaths was 25, against 42 and 40 in the two preceding years. Of these 25 deaths, 22 occurred in hospital and 3 outside.

The total number of admissions into hospital was 2,204, against 1,284 and 1,419 in the two previous years. No reason is given for the large increase in the number of admissions into hospital.

The admissions from cholera numbered 12, with 7 deaths; from sunstroke 7, with 3 deaths; and from small-pox and scurvy 2 and 8 respectively, with no deaths. The number of cases of drowning was 8 against 9 and 14 in the two preceding years.

The Coroner of Calcutta having reported in the case of one of the deaths by drowning that there was unnecessary exposure to the sun, copies of Marine Notification No. 104 of the 14th April 1891, prohibiting work involving direct exposure to the sun between 9 A.M. and 4 P.M., were circulated to the Masters of Ships in the port, and the Commissioner of Police directed to prosecute under section 54 of the Indian Ports Act any breaches of the rule observed.

6. The following table gives the admissions into hospital of European seamen suffering from venereal diseases:—

Year.	Total admissions.	Rate per mille.
1883	237	127·4
1884	184	109·2
1885	170	100·4
1886	417	179·2
1887	228	120·4
1888	183	121·1
1889	186	114·3
1890	248	147·7
1891	185	129·7
1892	479	224·5

The number of admissions during the year is the highest on record, and the Health Officer reports that the masters of vessels complain of numbers of their crew being rendered unfit for work soon after leaving port from venereal affections.

7. There were 43 deaths at sea during the year on vessels entering the port, against 28 and 32 in the two preceding years.

8. Sickness and mortality among the native floating population.—The following figures give the mortality from all causes among the native floating population, the averages being calculated on a population of 25,000:—

	Total deaths.		Ratio per mille.
	1892.	1891.	1892.	1891.
Cholera	73	97	2·92	3 88
Bowel complaints	3	7	0·12	0·28
Fever, malarious	11	11	0·44	0·44
Do., simple	13	22	0·52	0 88
Other causes	32	33	1·28	1·32
Total ...	132	170	5·28	6·80

Of the 132 deaths, 35 occurred in hospital, of which 21 were from cholera.

9. Food.—The complaints as to the quality of food on board vessels coming to the Port were few, and of these only a few were justified. The Health Officer mentions that the sailors after being a long time in port are very desirous of occasionally being given salt meat as a change.

10. Conservancy.—The drain and latrine in Messrs. Ahmuty and Company's compound, noticed in the Resolution on the Annual Report of the Health Officer for 1891, has been altered to meet requirements, but the Health Officer reports that the brickfield foreshore at Ghoosery, and the Mateabroog foreshore of Babu Doorga Prosonno Ghose's property, are still used as latrines by the public. The attention of the District Magistrates will be drawn to this.

11. Corpses and carcasses.—The Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to find from the Health Officer's report that there has been some decrease in the number of corpses and carcasses found floating in the river.

12. Water supply.—The supply of Municipal filtered water to the vessels in the port was satisfactory in every respect.

13. The Health Officer has, in the course of his report, made several suggestions and proposals which require much consultation and consideration from legal and other aspects. It should be remembered that the annual report is a record of the events of the year, and questions on which orders are required should be separately submitted.

The information given in the report regarding the accommodation of European seamen, the crowding of the quarters of native crews, the sea-diet scale of sailing vessels, and the facilities existing for the communication of reasonable grievances of sailors as regards the quality of their food, and the seaworthiness of the ship, is important as bearing on the welfare of seamen, and it is therefore well that the public should know that the alleged defects are under consideration, and that the question whether the Government can lawfully interfere in any of these matters, or would be well advised to do so, will be separately considered.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

C. W. ODLING,

Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

2. The number of analyses performed during the year under report was 3,403 against 3,063 in 1891 and 2,746 in 1890. These figures show a considerable increase of work in the Chemical Examiner's Department. Besides analytical work, the Chemical Examiner had to report on 16 technical questions referred to him, and on 10 applications for leave to file specifications for patent processes.

3. The increase was almost entirely in the number of medico-legal analytical cases, which rose from 1,414 to 1,745. In 1,426 of these cases (against 1,101 in 1891) human viscera or other substances were sent up for examination under the suspicion of containing poison. In 150 out of 276 human viscera, and in 489 other cases of suspected substances, out of 1,000 sent up, no poison was found. The principal poisons detected were arsenic, opium and aconite. In the case of human remains, opium was the most common form of poison, having been found in 26 per cent. of these cases. Arsenic was discovered in as many as 79·59 per cent. of the supposed cattle-poisoning cases in which animal viscera were sent up for examination.

4. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with satisfaction the increase which has taken place in the number of samples of potable water sent up for analysis, which increased from 61 in 1890 to 100 in 1891 and 149 during the year under report. Of the 149 samples examined in 1892, 13 were for Municipal authorities, 69 for jails and 67 for other departments. The results of these analyses are set forth in a special table in the Chemical Examiner's Report. After issue of the Resolution on the Administration Report for 1891, the Sanitary Commissioner was asked when inspecting a municipality to procure samples of the water in ordinary use, in order that they might be submitted to the Chemical Examiner for analysis. The Lieutenant-Governor hopes that greater effect will be given to these orders during the current year, and he desires that the Deputy Sanitary Commissioners will share in this work. The duty of testing the water of all the towns in Bengal must be taken up on a uniform and general plan, so as to obtain information where a pure water-supply ought to be provided, and where it is possible to rest content with the present supply. This should be the work of the Sanitary Commissioner. Besides this, whenever an epidemic of sickness occurs, which the Civil Surgeon thinks attributable to the water of the place, he should be authorised and enjoined to send in samples of the water for examination. Separate instructions will be issued to this effect.

5. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Dr. Ranking for his concise but full report, and for the good work he has done during the period he held charge of the office. The Lieutenant-Governor also notices with satisfaction the high terms in which Dr. Ranking speaks of the work done by the Assistant Chemical Examiner, Rai Taraprasana Ray Bahadur.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

J. A. BOURDILLON,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 2nd May 1893.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 29TH APRIL 1893.

FAIRLY settled weather prevailed at the beginning of the week in all districts, except East and North Bengal, where rain was falling in local showers. The pressure distribution was very nearly normal over the greater part of the province, but there was a shallow low-pressure area to the south-west, and this was causing easterly winds in Lower Bengal.

During the first two days pressure rose considerably, and as the increase was rather greater towards the north, the relatively low readings continued in the south-west. After this, however, a double series of important changes commenced. A small cyclonic storm formed in the Andaman sea, and a little later a depression approached from the north-west. The cyclonic storm passed over Rangoon on the 27th, moving in a north-easterly direction, after giving rather stormy weather on the coast and heavy general rain in Lower Burma. Very large atmospheric oscillations followed, due to the recovery of pressure in Burma after the small storm passed away, and partly to the approach of the other depression from the west. Gradients from being very slight over the north of the Bay became in a short time much steeper than is usual at this time of the year. In consequence of the steeper gradients strong moisture-laden winds blew in all districts, and general rain fell except in Orissa and part of South-West Bengal. Rainfall was most general on the last day of the week, and heaviest in East Bengal. The depression from the west was then over the central districts, and was causing strong easterly winds at all stations to the east of it.

Pressure.—Changes during the week have been unusually large. The fairly rapid rise in the early part of the week brought readings to about a 10th of an inch above the normal. The fall which then set in caused a large defect during the remaining days of the week. The changes on the 27th, when the small storm was passing near Rangoon varied from a rise of a twentieth of an inch in the west of Bihar to a fall of ·176 inch at Rangoon, a relative fall of nearly a quarter of an inch. On the 28th, when pressure was rising in Burma, changes varied from a rise of ·157 inch at Rangeon to a fall of ·177 inch at Arrah, a relative change of a third of an inch in a direction opposite to that of the previous day. Defect then ranged from ·13 inch in the south of the Bay to ·25 inch at Dehree. On the 29th pressure was again rising, and readings were relatively lowest at some of the central stations.

Temperature—Has been steadily below the normal by several degrees at all except a few stations in North Bihar, North Bengal, and East Bengal, where there has been at times a small excess. Means are everywhere below the normal, and the average defect for the large divisions varies from 2·3° in North Bihar to 6° in Chota Nagpur.

Rainfall.—Numerous showers have fallen in all districts. General heavy rain has fallen in North Bengal and parts of East Bengal, but in the extreme west of the province the falls were much lighter and more scattered, especially in the western districts of South Bihar. As the rainfall was due to thunder-storms, the amounts recorded at the rainfall stations are very various in amount, but the mean falls for the larger divisions are all above the normal. Excess is 1·64 inches in North Bengal, 1·04 inches in North Bihar, and in the other districts it varies from ·84 inch to ·39 inch. The amount received in South Bihar is nearly nine times the normal fall for the week, and in Chota Nagpur more than eleven times.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 29th of April 1893 :—

SOUTH PACIFIC OCEAN.

SAMOA OR NAVIGATOR ISLANDS.

Vailele bay—Shoal in fairway of western entrance.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 179 of 1893) that a shoal, on which the sea breaks with heavy swell, lies in the fairway of the western entrance of Vailele bay, north coast of Upolu island. This shoal extends about one cable in a N.-W. by W. and S.-E. by E. direction, with probably about 2 fathoms water on it. Its east end (6 fathoms water) lies with Branker bearing S.-W. by W. ¼ W., distant about 7½ cables. Between the shoal and the western reef, the edge of which is always visible, there is a channel with depths of 10 to 16 fathoms; the best channel, however, is southward of the shoal, keeping close to the north-west edge of the eastern reef, which is steep to and apparently clear of danger.

Approximate position of shoal, lat. 13° 50½′ S., long. 171° 41′ W.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 160 of 1893) of the intended exhibition of a light from a light-house now in course of construction on Wag lan islet, Putoy group, approach to Hongkong by the Tathong channel:—

Wag lan islet light will be a double flashing white light of the first order, showing flashes at intervals of half a minute. It will be elevated 225 feet above the sea, and should be visible in clear weather, where not obscured by the land, from a distance of about 21 miles.

The light-house situated on the summit of the islet will be 52 feet high, and cylindrical in shape. The lower half will be painted white, the upper half red, the lantern and keepers' dwellings, white.

Approximate position: lat. 22° 11¼′ N., long. 114° 18¼′ E.

Also, that on the establishment of Wag lan islet light, the keepers, on hearing a bell, horn, steam-whistle, or other sound indicating the proximity of a vessel, will fire two guns with an interval of fifteen seconds between them, and if the vessel's fog-signal—showing that she is under way—continues to be heard, the guns will be repeated after an interval of twelve minutes.

Also that the South port (or Grand) passage is now the only available entrance to the port, and that the red buoy on the east side of that passage is now moored about three quarters of a cable S. 16° E from its heretofore charted position.

AUSTRALIA, EAST COAST—PORT CURTIS.

Alteration in North channel and buoy altered in position.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 146 of 1893) that the sand spit (opposite Junction buoy) on the northern side of the North channel to port Curtis has extended about 73 yards in a south-easterly direction, and that the red buoy has been moved to mark its extremity. The channel in this port being now only about 270 yards wide, Mariners should exercise caution when using it at night, and when proceeding through, Gatcombe head light (fixed white and red) should not be opened northward of Oyster rock reflected light.

RED SEA, WESTERN SHORE—MASSAWA CHANNEL, NORTHERN APPROACH.

Breakers reported in fairway.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 150 of 1893) that Mr. Kemp Saunders commanding the S.S. Shat-el-Arab, when proceeding towards Suez from the Massawa channel sighted breakers about 35½ miles N. ¼ E. from Difnein island:—

A cast of the lead obtained 3½ miles N. by W. ½ W. from the breakers gave no bottom at 115 fathoms.

Approximate position of breakers, lat. 17° 13′ N., long. 39° 20½′ E.

NOTE.—This break was passed at about 2 miles distance, at noon; the appearance of the break being seen for an hour; a northerly swell prevailing. The position appears unassailable. Unless therefore the eye was deceived by fish, light, or other delusive appearances, it would appear that a most dangerous shoal exists in the very fairway of approach to Massawa channel.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 8 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·2 lower; and, finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

* Mean of 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 01. rainfall the normal mean are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional station district, i.e., from total rainfall at the subdivisional stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one of

for the week ending Saturday, the 6th of May 1893.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 9th May 1893.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 6TH MAY 1893.

UNSETTLED weather, with local showers more or less heavy, has prevailed in most districts during the past week. The heavier rainfall has been irregularly distributed except in East and North Bengal, where it has been of almost daily occurrence. This rainfall appears to be due to the continuance for many days of the easterly winds, which were caused in the early part of the week by the low pressure over the western districts, and latterly by the unusual way in which the pressure recovered from the large defect which then prevailed. On the 1st of May it began to rise in North Bengal, and from there a wave of rising pressure spread towards the south-west. The rise was rapid on the 2nd in all the western districts of Bengal and as far south as Ganjam. On the 3rd the most rapid rise was in the Circars, while over the west of the Bay the increase was from brisk to rapid. In consequence of these changes the area of lowest pressure retreated southwards, and as gradients were moderately steep and ran from south-east to north-west, the circulation of winds was everywhere easterly. During the latter part of the week a fall set in from the west, and the low pressure area continued to the south-west of the province till the last day of the week, when it was shown over Lower Bengal. Westerly winds then prevailed as far north as Hazaribagh, and it seemed likely that more settled conditions were in rear of the depression. On Thursday the 4th the heaviest rainfall was in South-West Bengal, on the 5th it was light and scattered, and on the 6th, the last day of the week, it was most heavy in East Bengal.

Pressure.—The mean readings for the whole week differ very little from the normal, but the changes have been fairly large. At the beginning of the week there was defect everywhere, varying from ·1″ in the eastern districts to ·17″ in the west of Bihar. The rise that commenced on the 1st in North Bengal and spread southwards and westwards continued till the 4th, when the distribution was above the normal by about ·05″. The fall which then set in continued till the end of the week, when readings were relatively to the normal lowest in East Bengal and Assam.

Temperature—Has again been several degrees below the normal. At first the lowest readings were in East Bengal, where defect was more than 5,° while in the other districts it was about 3° except in Orissa, where there was a small excess. Large irregular changes followed the thunderstorms, and by the middle of the week the lowest temperatures were in Chota Nagpur. The defect there increased, and very low readings became general in all the western districts. The weekly means for the larger divisions are all below the normal by amounts varying from 1·1° in Orissa to 5·3° in Chota Nagpur. The defect in Bihar and South-West Bengal is about 3·5,° and in the eastern districts 2·5.°

Rainfall.—Scattered showers have fallen throughout the week, but in some districts, especially on Saturday, the 30th April, and Thursday, the 4th of May, the falls were much more general and more heavy. The days when the rainfall was most scattered were Tuesday the 2nd and Saturday the 6th in all districts The mean falls for the large divisions are all very much above the normal for the week, and excess varies from ·42 inch in Chota Nagpur to 3·95 inches in East Bengal. If the actual falls be expressed as a percentage of the normal, the numbers are—South Bihar 525, Orissa 300, Chota Nagpur and North Bihar 250, East Bengal 273, North Bengal 186, and South-West Bengal 158.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 6th of April 1893:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Vailele bay—Shoal in fairway of western entrance.

THE British Admiralty has given notice (No. 179 of 1893) that a shoal, on which the sea breaks with heavy swell, lies in the fairway of the western entrance of Vailele bay, north coast of Upolu island. This shoal extends about one cable in a N.-W. by W. and S.-E. by E. direction, with probably about 2 fathoms water on it. Its east end (6 fathoms water) lies with Branker bearing S.-W. by W. ¼ W., distant about 7½ cables. Between the shoal and the western reef, the edge of which is always visible, there is a channel with depths of 10 to 16 fathoms; the best channel, however, is southward of the shoal, keeping close to the north-west edge of the eastern reef, which is steep to and apparently clear of danger.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF APRIL 1893.

DURING the early part of April there was very little worthy of remark in the general weather conditions beyond the continued low temperatures, especially during the day, when compared with the averages for past years. Pressure distribution never differed very largely from the normal, and underwent the ordinary small oscillations usual in settled weather. On one or two occasions between the 1st and the 15th, weather became slightly disturbed owing to the passage of shallow depressions across the Province, but the rain, which fell at these times, was very local and chiefly confined to the northern districts. These periods of slight disturbance were from the 5th to the 7th, when rain fell in North Bengal and parts of South-West and East Bengal, and again on the 10th and 11th, when, as before, practically no rain fell in Orissa, Chota Nagpur and Bihar, but showers were well distributed in the other districts. During this early part of the month day readings of the thermometers were steadily below the normal by several degrees, while at night, though the air was cooler than usual, the difference was usually much smaller than by day.

After the 15th, until towards the end of the month, fine cloudless weather prevailed, but the pressure distribution underwent considerable modification, and there resulted an arrangement which in all probability intensified the disturbance which afterwards became general over the province and continued for some time. Temperature rose above the normal both by day and night, but the excess in minimum readings was considerably the greater, and the wind circulation underwent a change, which became an important feature of the weather condition for days afterwards. Owing to the low pressure in Central India, the area of lowest readings in Bengal was in the south-west corner, and the wind circulation due to this arrangement became easterly in all districts.

About the 23rd a depression formed in the north-west of India, and began moving in an easterly direction, while on the 25th a small cyclonic storm developed in the Andaman Sea, and moving over Burmah caused stormy weather in the east of the Bay and heavy rainfall in Burmah. The centre of the cyclonic disturbance passed over Rangoon on the 27th, and on that day the depression from the north-west was beginning to affect the weather in the extreme west of the Province. On the following day there was a rapid rise of pressure in the east of the Bay and a rapid fall in the western districts of Bengal, so that gradients from being very slight in the north of the Bay, became in a short time much steeper than is usual at the end of April. In consequence of these steeper gradients strong moisture-laden winds blew in all districts and general rain fell, except in Orissa and part of South-West Bengal, up till the end of the month.

Pressure.—Though the mean pressures for the month differ from the normal by a few thousandths of an inch only, large changes have occurred at times, and the distribution has been considerably above and below the normal. During the first half of the month readings were steadily in excess, the greatest difference occuring on the 10th and 11th, when it was more than ·2 inch in the north of the Province, and somewhat less elsewhere. After the 11th pressure steadily fell. By the 15th the distribution was practically normal, and by the 18th there was defect ranging from ·1 inch in Orissa to ·2 inch in Assam. These relatively low readings continued till the 23rd, when a rapid rise was general, and the distribution was again above the normal; but from the 25th large oscillations were caused by the two disturbances, one in the east of the Bay, and the other in the western districts of Bengal.

The changes on the 27th, when the storm was passing over Lower Burmah, varied from a rise of ·05 inch in the west of Bihar to a fall of ·176 inch at Rangoon; and on the 28th, when pressure was rising in Burmah, changes varied from a rise of ·157 inch at Rangoon to a fall of ·177 inch at Arrah. Defect then ranged from ·13 inch in the south of the Bay to ·25 inch at Dehri.

Temperature—Was generally below the normal during the early part of the month. The difference from the normal by day was greater than by night, and even when, towards the middle of the month, a general rise prevailed, the day readings continued relatively lower. During the last week unsettled conditions prevailed with numerous thunderstorms in all districts, and cool weather again became general. The means for the larger divisions are all below the normal: Defect is under 1° in Bihar only, and in the other divisions varies from 1·6° in Assam to 2·4° in Chota Nagpur.

Rainfall.—As stated above, scattered showers fell about the 5th, and again on the 10th and 11th, after which there was very little rain till the 22nd, when the unsettled weather, which prevailed during the last week, commenced. During the first week rainfall was practically normal, during the second and third it was much below the normal; but the heavy falls during the last week brought up the total fall for the month to above the normal in all districts except Orissa. The largest excess was 2·74 inches in North Bengal. In East Bengal excess was 1·99 inches, in North Bihar ·85 inch, South Bihar ·59 inch, South-west Bengal ·32 inch, and Chota Nagpur ·23 inch. The heaviest falls were at Gnatong, Sibsagar, Silchar, Faridpur, Dhubri, Rangpur, Mymensingh, Noakhali, and Dacca, all of which places received more than 5 inches.

* Means of 5 days. | † Mean of 6 days.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period. The Humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 01. Rainfall: the normal mean are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional stations district, i.e., from total rainfall at the subdivisional stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one of

for the week ending Saturday, the 13th of May 1893.

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the column of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 16th May 1893.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 13TH MAY 1893.

AFTER a very short period of more settled weather at the end of the previous week, the approach of a depression from the west had begun to cause easterly winds in all districts and numerous thunder showers in the western half of the province.

This unsettled weather was most pronounced on the first day of the week under review, that is, on Sunday the 7th, when following a very rapid fall of pressure in the western districts, thunderstorms became more than usually numerous and severe. The severity of these storms, apart from the strength of the wind, of which there is no record for the short interval the storm lasts, was shown partly by the heavy rain, but more by the occurrence of hail. The fall of hail during a thunderstorm is a not unusual feature in the cooler month of March, but it is very unusual in May when, owing to the high temperature of the air, the hail is melted probably long before reaching the ground. The rapid fall of pressure on the 7th was followed by an even more rapid rise on the 8th. The low pressure area over Bengal completely disappeared, but as the rise commenced in the north and spread southwards, the area of lowest pressure retreated southwards. In consequence of this southward displacement of the area of lowest pressure, the easterly circulation of winds continued, and though pressure in Bengal was soon very much above the normal, thunderstorms with rain continued to occur not unfrequently over almost the whole of Bengal. A further consequence of the rapid rise of pressure was the great uniformity in the distribution not only over Bengal, but also in the Bay. Winds became very light, the skies were clearer and temperature began to rise steadily. The large defect in temperature which followed the heavy rainfall in the western districts underwent very little change till the middle of the week. During the last three days it diminished considerably, and by the end of the week was under 2° at nearly all stations except in Chota Nagpur and Orissa, while in the eastern districts and Assam there was excess of about 2.°

Pressure—Fell rapidly on the 7th, rose rapidly on the 8th, and more slowly on the 9th, when there was excess varying from ·05 inch in the east of the province to nearly ·2 inch in the west of Bihar. A fall then set in and continued till the 12th. The distribution resulting from these changes was practically normal. At the end of the week it was again rising. Mean pressure for the week is consequently considerably above the normal.

Temperature—Was unusually low at the beginning of the week, especially in the western districts. On the 8th defect was over 10° in South Bihar and part of South-West Bengal, and was between 5° and 10° in almost all the other districts. These low temperatures continued for some days, but during the latter half of the week the difference from the normal was steadily diminishing in the west of the province, while in East Bengal, North Bengal and Assam, readings had become one or two degrees in excess. The means for the large divisions are all much below the normal except for Assam. Defect varies from 2°·6 in East Bengal to 6° in Chota Nagpur and South Bihar.

Rainfall.—In the early part of the week rainfall was general and heavy in the western districts, and scattered showers fell in all districts practically throughout the week. The average falls in Orissa, South-West Bengal, Chota Nagpur, and South Bihar are all much above the normal, while in North Bihar, North Bengal and East Bengal, there is a considerable defect. Weather in these last three districts was not so disturbed, while the depression existed over the west of the province on the first day of the week, and owing to the rapid rise of pressure in the north, the eastward motion of the low pressure area was checked, and the rainfall became more scattered.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 13th of May 1893 :—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

	Tons.
Coal	10,173
For railway and Flotilla consumption and for brick burning. Part of the increase is due to Brace Bridge Hall consignments.
Jute, screwed	2,603
Saidpur, Rangpur, Lalmanir Hát, Postgolah, Mymensingh, and Sirajganj show increases under this head. There was comparatively little jute available in 1892.
Jute, unscrewed	3,072
The increase was principally in despatches from Domar, Arariya, Goalundo, and Rangpur.] The crop of 1892 was larger than that of 1891.
Kerosine oil	8,365
Due to prohibition of carriage by boats within certain limits of the port of Calcutta.
Hay, straw and wooloo	981
The increase was in bookings from Bansra, Canning, Diamond Harbour, and other stations on the Southern Section.
Tea	1,061
Increased production.

Decreases.

	Tons.
Rice	3,779
The chief decrease was in despatches from Sara, Goalundo, and Nowabganj. The abnormal demand which existed in 1892 accounts for this fluctuation.
Oil-seeds	2,293
Goalundo shows a very large decrease under this head. The falling off is said to be due to short crop. It is also partly due to the competition of the river steamers.

M. O.}}$.

H. H. RISLEY,
Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

PART III.

PAYMENT OF REVENUE MONEY-ORDERS.

SECTION A.—Procedure in the Office of payment.

12. When the Revenue Money-orders are in all respects* ready to be handed over to the Postman, a list in triplicate† (Form $\frac{2}{\text{R. M. O.}}$) should be made out by the Money-order Clerk, and the entries in the money column of the list should be carefully totalled. The original copy of the list will take the place of the journal of Money-order paid, the duplicate of the list will be sent to the Treasury under the procedure described below, and the triplicate of the list will be the list for the Comptroller. When the number of Revenue Money-orders for payment in one day is more than enough to fill a single sheet of Form $\frac{2}{\text{R. M. O.}}$, each sheet should be separately totalled, and a grand total should be made at the end of the last sheet of the list or on a separate sheet. The date stamp of the office of payment should be impressed in the space provided for it on the coupon (chalan) for each Money-order.

13. The Postmaster should then check the entries in the list with those on the Money-orders, and also check the total of the money column. He will then prepare a Treasury Voucher (Form A—C 14), representing the total value of the Money-orders as entered at the foot of the list.

This addition to rule 13 embodies rule 14 as given in the Government Notification No. 4476L.R., dated the 27th December 1892. A place is thus given for the new rule 17 without altering the numbers of the subsequent rules.

The amount represented by the Treasury Voucher will not be charged against the letter of credit, and will be paid quite independently of the balance of any letters of credit held by the Treasury in favour of the Post-office.

14. The money-orders, the duplicate copy of the list, and the Treasury Voucher duly filled up, should then be made over to the Postman for delivery at the Collectorate, the Postman's receipt for the documents being taken in the usual manner in the Register of Money-orders received.

15. The Postman will take the duplicate copy of the list, the Money-orders and the Treasury Voucher to the Treasury Officer, and will receive back from the Treasury Officer the Money-orders without the coupons and acknowledgments. The Postman will be careful to see that he receives back all the Money-orders, and that they are all duly receipted by the Treasury Officer.

* Only the total number and amount of Revenue Money-orders received for payment need be entered in the Register of Money-orders received. In order, however, that the record may be complete, it will be necessary to make a note in the last column of the Register whenever all the Revenue Money-orders received in one day are not included in the list of that date. For example, if in the Register of Money-orders received on the 5th July there are shown 500 Revenue Money-orders for a. 10,000, but 300 of these orders for Rs. 7,000 were received too late for inclusion in the list sent to the Collectorate on the 5th, there should be an entry in the last column of the Register in this form:—

200 for Rs. 3,000 included in list of 5th.
300 for Rs. 7,000 included in list of 6th.

† The duplicate and triplicate will be prepared by carbonic paper and a hard pencil must therefore be used in writing the list.

16. The paid Money-orders received back from the Treasury will be examined by the Money-order Clerk in the same way as ordinary Money-orders, and checked in detail with the original list. The total amount of the Money-orders will then be entered in the journal of Money-orders paid by a single entry thus : "As per Revised Money-order list IIII." The classification columns of the triplicate list will then be filled up and the Money-orders will be disposed of in the usual way.

17. The original and triplicate lists will be kept with the journal of Money-orders paid until the next list of ordinary Money-orders paid is sent to the Comptroller, when the corresponding list of Revenue Money-orders paid will also be sent, the paid Money-orders being arranged in order and attached to the lists. The original lists will then be filed, a separate file of original lists being kept with each journal of Money-orders paid, so that the dates of the journal and file of Revenue Money-order lists correspond.

SECTION B.—Procedure to be followed in the Collectorate.

25. On receipt in the Treasury of the duplicate copy of the list, the Money-orders, and Treasury Voucher, the Treasury Officer will check and compare the documents. If there is any error, he will return all the documents to the Post-Office with a note of the error or errors. When the documents are correct, the Treasury Officer will at once cut off the portion of each Money-order containing the coupon and acknowledgment, sign and date the Money-orders (as payee), and return the paid Money-orders to the Postman. The Treasury Officer will retain the lower portion of each Money-order, including the coupon and acknowledgment, the duplicate list of Money-orders (Form $\frac{2}{\text{R.M.O.}}$) and the Treasury Voucher. No Money-order received from the Post-office may be refused.

The acceptance of a Revenue Money-order after kist day is to be treated in the same manner as the receipt of a personal payment of revenue after kist day.

All applications for special permission to use fires at any other than the prescribed hours shall be made in writing to the Dock Superintendent before 5 o'clock P.M., and shall specify the circumstances under which the request is made; if granted, the application, after having been endorsed by the Dock Superintendent, is to be retained on board by the person charged with the care of the fire, and is to be exhibited by him to the Dock and Police officials whenever demanded, and is to be returned to the Dock Superintendent by 10 A.M. on the following day.

27. Vessels in Dock and all parts thereof shall be held or made free and accessible to the Dock and Police officials for their inspection in regard to fires and lights whenever they demand it.

28. A vessel about to come into Dock is to be trimmed, if possible, on an even keel or two to three inches by stern or head and kept upright. Side and stern ports to be shut in.

29. A vessel entering the Dock with her water ballast tanks full, the tanks must be kept in that condition during her stay in Dock. Should, however, necessity arise to empty a tank, the same can only be done with the sanction of the Dock Master and under his supervision.

30. Water ballast tanks, while the vessel is in Dock, shall not be filled without the previous sanction of the Dock Master.

31. No coals, cargo or ballast to be shifted in any of the holds or bunkers after the vessel is blocked, without the special permission of the Dock Master. If done, it will be at the risk and responsibility of the Commander.

32. From the time that the Dock ropes are made fast to the ship till she is secured on the blocks, all duty on board is to cease in order that the crew may be available to trim the vessel, if required, by the Dock Master.

33. As soon as a ship is in Dock, the Commanding Officer will station his men to hook on the tackles for putting the ship fair over the blocks, both forward and aft, and to assist in pulling up the shores.

34. As the safety of the ship depends on her prompt shoring, the most particular attention is requisite to the observance of the foregoing rule. No exertions of the Dock staff can effect this without the co-operation of the ship's crew.

35. Masters of vessels shall furnish special notice to the Commissioners before landing hazardous goods, e.g., saltpetre, acids, sulphur, matches, spirits of wine, kerosine oil, turpentine, pitch, tar, and petroleum, &c.

36. No person shall remove from the Dock or Jetties any goods other than those for which bills-of-lading, accompanied by Agent's or Master's delivery order, Customs bill-of-entry, and Dock or Jetty challan have been deposited with the Commissioners.

37. Every package, bale, or case sent for shipment at the Dock or the Jetties shall be entered in a cart ticket in the form prescribed, and no goods unaccompanied by this ticket will be allowed to pass into the Dock or Jetty enclosure. Every cart ticket shall contain the date, name of vessel on which the goods are to be shipped, the exporter's name, the marks, quantity, and description of articles shipped, and the current license number of the cart.

38. Working hours at the Dock or at the Jetties shall be as may be notified from time to time. Wharf rent will not be charged for the days observed as holidays by the Custom House but goods can be received and delivered on such days on payment of Custom House fees.

39. Application to work at night or on Sundays or holidays must be made to the Commissioners, who, on production of the Custom House permission, will order all the necessary arrangements for the proper conduct of business. For work at night and on Sunday, and the holidays prescribed by the Commissioners, the extra rates fixed by the Commissioners from time to time must be paid.

40. The sanctioned holidays recognised by the Commissioners shall be—

	Days.
New Year's Day	1
Sri Panchami	1
Good Friday	1
Queen's Birthday	1
Durgá and Lukhmi Pujás	12
Káli Pujá	1
Jagadhátri Pujá	1

41. No ashes, sweepings, or rubbish of any kind are to be landed on any part of the Dock or Jetty premises, except under such conditions as shall be approved by the Commissioners.

42. Except for the purpose of enabling Masters of vessels to take measurements or weighments of goods to be shipped on board their vessels, no goods shall be permitted to be stacked on the wharves beyond the time actually necessary to convey them away.

43. During the time it is actually necessary for goods in course of landing or shipping to remain on the wharves, such goods shall be piled in places assigned for the purpose by the Superintendents of the Wharves or their subordinates.

44. Boats shall not be moored or anchored at the wharves, in order that the owners of the goods brought in them may sell or barter.

45. Empty boats waiting to be hired, or having discharged goods, shall anchor in the stream, at least 150 feet off the wharves.

46. The hours for landing and shipping goods at the Inland Vessels Wharves shall be from 6 A.M. to 6 P.M., on all days, except Sundays and holidays authorised by the Commissioners; and no business shall be transacted on the wharves during the hours intervening between 6 P.M. and 6 A.M., nor on such Sundays and authorised holidays, except on payment of overtime or extra fees respectively.

47. When goods are to be landed or shipped inward or outward, authenticated challans, showing the descriptions and exact quantities of the goods shall be tendered to the cashier by applicants for the passes. On the data furnished in these challans the passes will be drawn up and the tolls levied. In the absence of such challans, or where reasonable doubts exist with regard to their genuineness or correctness, the calculation for levying the toll shall be based on the registered tonnage of the boats or vessels from which the goods are to be landed or on which they are to be shipped.

48. No unauthorised person shall lay hold of, or get into, or upon, any engine, carriage, or truck on the Commissioners' tramway.

49. No driver shall drive his engine over the Commissioners' tramway at a greater rate of speed than six miles an hour.

50. No person shall cross the Commissioners' tramway in front of an approaching engine, or between or under any vehicle standing or moving on the line.

51. No person shall remove or wilfully damage any lamp, engine, carriage, truck, fencing or any other property whatever belonging to the Commissioners.

52. No person shall place any obstruction upon the Commissioners' tramway.

53. No person shall walk along the Commissioners' tramway within the fencing.

54. No person shall allow cattle in his or her charge to trespass on the Commissioners' tramway, nor to cross the line except at the regular crossing.

55. No person shall smoke within any of the sheds and warehouses belonging to the Commissioners.

56. Any person committing an infringement of any of the foregoing bye-laws shall be liable to a fine not exceeding Rs. 500, and, when the breach is a continuing breach, to a further fine which may extend to Rs. 200 for every day after the first during which the breach continues.

RESOLUTION ON THE ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE JAIL DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1892.

RESOLUTION.

JAILS.

Calcutta, the 20th May 1893.

The Report on the Administration of the Jail Department for the year 1892.

The Reports for the years 1890 and 1891, and the orders of Government recorded thereon.

DR. LETHBRIDGE held the office of Inspector-General of Jails until the 28th March, the date of his appointment as Superintendent of Thuggee and Dacoity Operations. He was then relieved by Surgeon-Major D. W. D. Comins, who was in charge of the department during the remainder of the year.

Judicial statistics.

2. The number of Central, District, Intermediate and Subsidiary Jails remained unchanged during the year. The following table shows the number of prisoners of all classes confined in the jails and subsidiary jails of the province in the last ten years.

	1883.	1884.	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892.
Number of prisoners of all classes in jails and subsidiary jails on the last day of previous year	15,505	14,718	15,354	15,076	14,629	13,210	13,985	15,048	15,211	16,600*
Total number admitted during the year	74,643	80,858	80,853	77,966	75,864	81,136	84,639	80,959	87,925	95,523

Balance at the end of the year	14,718	15,354	15,076	14,629	13,210	13,985	15,048	15,207	16,590	17,793
Daily average of all classes	15,924	15,101	15,177	14,800	13,250	13,731	13,926	14,777	15,916	17,180

* The 19 prisoners (15 male convicts and 3 male and 1 female under-trial) who remained at the Deoghur Magistrate's hajat on the 31st December 1891, before it was converted into a subsidiary jail, were not accounted for in the statistics for 1891.

From these figures it appears that the number of admissions during the year, as well as the number of prisoners remaining in custody at its close, was larger than in any other of the past ten years. The daily average population has risen from 15,916 in 1891 to 17,180 in 1892, and this is almost entirely due to the increase in the number of male convicts admitted. On the other hand there was a satisfactory decrease in the daily average of under-trial prisoners present in jails, the number having fallen from 1,339 in 1891 to 1,240 in 1892.

Of the 46 Central, District and Intermediate Jails, and their affiliated Subsidiary Jails (or Lock-ups), 30 show an increase in the total number of direct admissions. This is attributed to the scarcity that prevailed in these districts, and to the rise in the price of grain, which led to the commission of a large number of thefts. It is noticed that the districts which show the greatest increase or decrease of crime are as a general rule those which were most or least affected by these causes. The Lieutenant-Governor has no doubt that this is the true explanation of the increase of crime during the year. There was a general rise in food-prices, and the province narrowly escaped a severe scarcity.

Releases.

3. The following table compares the releases under the various heads with the figures for the six previous years:—

	1886.	1887.	1888.	1889.	1890.	1891.	1892
Released on expiry of sentence	27,125	21,338	26,452	28,754	28,464	28,873	32,643
,, on appeal	1,845	1,903	1,980	1,942	2,083	2,120	2,486
,, under remission rules	1,673	1,017	1,352	1,575	1,622	1,661	1,598
,, on medical grounds	26	28	39	37	30	105	140
,, on other grounds	27	6,484	88	2	9	9	6

Although there was a slight increase in the number of releases on appeal, His Honour notices with satisfaction that the percentage of such releases to total imprisonments has fallen from 6·19 in 1890 and 6·08 in 1891 to 5·59 in 1892, thus justifying the discretion of the Magistrates whose sentences were appealed against. The number of prisoners released on medical grounds has increased from 105 in 1891 to 140 in 1892. Of these, 26 were released under rule 488A of the Jail Code, which authorises the release of prisoners who are likely to die if detained in jail, but have a probability of recovery if released; while 112 were released under rules 487 and 488 which apply to prisoners who are almost certain to die, and who are released, not in the hope that they will recover, but that they may have the comfort of dying at home.

Classification of convicts.

4. Out of the 38,538 convicts admitted direct into jail during the year, 22,901 or 59·43 per cent. were Hindus, 13,762 or 35·71 per cent. were Muhammadans, and 685 or 1·78 per cent. were Christians. The number of juveniles under 16 years of age admitted to jail was 453 or 1·17 per cent. of the total admissions, as compared with 371 or 1·06 per cent. of the total admissions in 1891. The Reformatory Schools at Alipore and Hazaribagh continue to do excellent work. A proposal to amalgamate the two schools and to locate them at Hazaribagh was under consideration during the year, but was finally abandoned, the Lieutenant-Governor deciding that it would be inadvisable to make any change in the existing arrangements.

The proportion of cultivators to other classes of prisoners admitted into jail fell from 63·44 per cent. in 1891 to 61·94 per cent. in 1892. The number of female convicts admitted direct was 1,484, as compared with 1,431 in 1890 and 1,265 in 1891.

Re-convictions.

5. The number of re-convicted prisoners admitted into jail during the year was 3,888 or 10·08 per cent. of total admissions against 3,226 or 9·26 per cent. in 1891. Of this number 2,840 had one previous conviction, 658 had two previous convictions, and 390 had more than two. The Inspector-General attributes the increase to greater accuracy in recording re-convictions. Further progress was made during the year in improving and extending the anthropometrical system for the identification of habitual offenders. The system promises to be of the greatest value in the future, but so far it has not been found possible to put it to any practical test, and no re-conviction was proved by its help during the year.

Sentences of convicts.

6. Of the 16,648 convicts confined in jail on the 31st December 1892, 8,226 or 49·41 per cent. had sentences not exceeding one year, as compared with 7,993 or 51·80 per cent. on the last day of 1891. The number of prisoners admitted in 1892 with sentences exceeding one year was 4,327 against 3,963 in 1891. The number of sentences of simple imprisonment rose from 2,472 or 7·10 per cent. of the total number of admissions in 1891 to 2,769 or 7·18 per cent. in 1892. Sentences of judicial whipping increased from 1,539 in 1891 to 2,029 in 1892, while the number of boys whipped rose from 458 to 565. The number of punishments of rigorous imprisonment with solitary confinement imposed during the year was 149, against 30 in 1890 and 56 in 1891. Sir Charles Elliott is glad to see that greater use is being made of this form of punishment, which is useful as a deterrent, and is particularly appropriate for certain classes of offences.

Under-trial prisoners.

7. The number of under-trial prisoners admitted during the year was 33,325 as compared with 30,304 in 1891, and the number remaining in jail at the close of the year was 1,071 compared with 1,089 on the last day of 1891. Of the total number thus admitted, including those remaining on the first day of the year, 17,688 or 51·1 per cent. were finally convicted, as against 15,036 or 49·6 per cent. in 1891. It is satisfactory to notice that, in spite of the large increase in the total number of prisoners admitted into the jails of the province in 1892, the number of under-trial prisoners at the close of the year is less than it has been for the three preceding years. The number of escapes among under-trial prisoners has fallen from 33 in 1891 to 8, and of these 3 remained uncaptured at the end of the year.

Detention of under-trial prisoners.

8. There has been a satisfactory improvement in the detention of under-trial prisoners during the year. In Sessions cases the average period for detention for the whole province was 39·70 days, as compared with 49·96 in 1891 and 45·88 in 1890. In Monghyr, Hazaribagh, Khulna and Faridpur the average detention exceeded two months, while in Birbhum and Noakhali it was below 20 days. In trials before Magistrates, the average period of detention for the whole province was 10·77 days as against 13·38 in 1890 and 11·96 in 1891. These figures afford valuable testimony to the improvement, on which the Lieutenant-Governor has so continually insisted, in trying judicial cases with greater promptitude, and His Honour is glad to believe that the delays in procedure which constitute so serious a blot on the administration of justice have materially diminished in almost all districts. The longest average detention during the past year occurred in Jessore, 17·13 days; Purnea, 15·16 days; Rangpur, 15·31 days; Noakhali, 14·80 days; and Darbhanga, 14·60 days. The Lieutenant-Governor notices that Khulna has again the best record in the province, and that the average period of detention, which in 1891 was only 2·57 days, has reached the remarkably low figure of 0·93 days.

Civil prisoners.

9. There were 71 civil prisoners in confinement on the last day of 1891, and the total number of admissions during the year fell from 1,089 to 873. Of these, 867 were released and 6 were transferred, leaving 71 in jail at the end of the year, the same number as that with which it began.

State prisoners.

10. Four Lushai State prisoners were received into the Alipore Central Jail in May 1892. In July one of these, a man named Nikoalo, murdered one of his companions in the jail. He was committed to the Sessions for trial, but as he was found to be insane, he was remanded to the jail, where he is still under observation. The two remaining Lushais were retransferred to Silchar in August by order of the Government. Two other Lushai Chiefs were confined in the Hazaribagh Jail during the year. One was in jail throughout the year, and the other was received in August 1892. The health of these prisoners is good, and they appear to be comfortable and well looked after.

Jail buildings.

11. Excluding a sum of Rs. 9,960 expended on the Press buildings in the Presidency Jail, and Rs. 4,560 on the Reformatory School at Alipore, the total expenditure on jail works during the year was Rs 1,56,543 as against Rs. 2,03,705 in 1891. Among the principal works carried out were the construction of a new jail at Palamau at a cost of Rs 12,274, and of four new subsidiary jails at Alipore (Jalpaiguri) Rs. 14,636, Thakurgaon Rs. 14,772, Feuny and Munshiganj, and the re roofing of the workshed of the Buxar Central Jail

The advisability of the more extensive employment of convict labour on public works was referred to in his report last year by the Inspector-General, who was then in consultation with the Chief Engineer on the subject. It was expected that the number of prisoners thus employed would show a considerable increase during the year; but the expectation has hardly been realised, and the actual increase was only from 974 in 1891 to 997 in 1892.

Guards.

12. In consequence of the raising of the status of the Tippera Intermediate Jail to that of a District Jail, the total strengh of the warder guard has been increased from 1,607 men of all grades in 1891 to 1,620 in 1892. The practice of utilizing the Jail establishment of warders for the purpose of furnishing escorts to prisoners required by Magistrates to be produced before the Courts has been discontinued during the year, and orders have been issued directing that such escorts should in future be supplied by the Police. The Inspector-General mentions the great difficulty frequently experienced by Central Jails in meeting the demands for warders for District and Intermediate Jails, and he fears that, in consequence, the warders sent out from Central Jails were not always sufficiently trained in their jail duties or in drill. It is satisfactory to know that the warders have as a body worked well and cheerfully throughout the year, and this in spite of the high price of food, which pressed somewhat heavily on their means of subsistence, and of the greater responsibility and extra work thrown on them owing to the increase in the jail population and to the number of cases of sickness among the jail staff. Dr. Comins speaks highly of the smartness and efficiency with which many of the warder guards whom he inspected performed their physical exercises and drill movements. At his recent inspection of the Chittagong Jail, the Lieutenant-Governor tested the shooting of the warders at the rifle range, and the results showed that they had had little or no practice in this particular form of drill. His Honour would be glad to see a regular course of practice in firing prescribed, and he considers that in this as well as in ordinary drill the warders should combine with the regular police.

13. Escapes. There were 34 escapes of convicts as compared with 13 in 1890 and 21 in 1891. Of this number, 2 were from Central Jails, 14 from District Jails, 7 from Intermediate Jails and 11 from Subsidiary Jails. Twenty were recaptured during the year, besides two who had escaped in previous years. On this subject Dr. Comins writes as follows:—

"The causes of the increased number of escapes are to be found in—

(a) The increased population.

(b) The lessened proportion of guards to prisoners.

(c) The increased work devolving on individual warders from more prisoners, as well as increased sickness in this unhealthy year among the warders, and the number from time to time unfit for duty.

(d) The necessity for using less secure enclosures and wards, which with a smaller jail population had been abandoned.

(e) The retention, owing to the fulness of Central Jails, of long-term prisoners for a longer period than usual in District and Subsidiary Jails, where the chances of escape are greater."

These reasons have doubtless much weight, but the increase in the number of escapes is greatly to be regretted, and every endeavour must be made to put a stop to them in future

Only one escape occurred from among the numerous gangs employed by the Public Departments, District Boards, or Municipalities, and that was due to the grossest carelessness on the part of the paid warder in charge of the gang. This is a creditable record considering the risks which unavoidably attend the extra-mural employment of convict prisoners.

14. Prison discipline. The total number of offences committed by prisoners during the past year was 34,750 against 26,459 in 1891. The ratio of punishments to the daily average jail population increased from 183·1 in 1891 to 219·4 in 1892. The increase in the number of punishments is to be deplored, but Sir Charles Elliott sees no reason to suppose that any undue severity was shown, and the punishments themselves appear to have been moderate and judicious. As compared with 1891, there was a reduction in the number of cases of punishment by solitary confinement, but the percentage of whipping to the daily average number of male prisoners remained practically unchanged. The following table gives the statistics of punishments during the past seven years.

	By criminal courts.	By Jail Officers.					Total punishments.	Ratio per cent. of total punishments to daily average number of prisoners.	Ratio per cent. of corporal punishment to total number of all other punishments inflicted on male prisoners.

Convict officers and mark remissions.

15. The number of prisoners employed as convict officers during the year was 2,198, of whom 409 were in the highest grade of convict warders. The ratio per cent. of the average number in jail was for male convict officers 5·58 against 5·80 in 1891, and for females 1·56 against 0·37. The Inspector-General reports that, as a general rule, these convict officers have done their work well, and by being employed at night in patrolling duties have afforded some relief to the staff of paid warders whose work has, for reasons already explained, been increased during the year. The number of convict officers punished was 1,783 against 1,580 in 1891. Of the 1,608 prisoners released during the year who were on the mark system, only ten failed to get remission under it.

Expenditure.

16. The following table shows the gross expenditure for jails and subsidiary jails in 1892 and for the nine years preceding:—

The increase under the heads Diet, Clothing, and Contingencies is due to the increase in the jail population from an average of 15,915 in 1891 to 17,178 in 1892. The average cost per prisoner under all heads of expenditure, excluding Public Works, was Rs. 74-10-6, showing an increase of Rs. 1-6-9 over that of last year, but the average is still below that for the four previous years.

There was a great rise in the price of all food-grains during the year, with the exception of maize, and the average price of rice rose from Rs. 2-1-9 in 1891 to Rs. 2-9-1 in 1892. In this connection Dr. Comins writes:—

"Had it not been for the timely storage of grain at the cheap season of the year, the cost under head "Diet" would have been very much heavier. There is ample evidence, however, that this has not been taken advantage of to the fullest extent, and there is yet much left to be done before the saving under this head will have reached its utmost limit. The arrangements for these large transactions have been left too much in the hands of jailors, who are timid and fear the responsibility of large bargains, and it is hard to break them of the time-honoured custom of buying in small quantities from the local bunnia at retail prices, and they have many duties which prevent them travelling far afield and of keeping themselves informed of the exact time when, and place where, the best bargain can be made. Much better results have been obtained where the Superintendent has personally enquired into or completed arrangements, or has effectively controlled and encouraged the efforts of his jailor. Sufficient efforts to ensure a full supply of grain at the cheap season have not been made in all cases, and the cheapest season has been allowed to pass before the bulk of grain has been secured. In other cases, rice has been bought where it would obviously have been cheaper to have bought paddy, the husking and preparing of which would have also afforded good labour to the prisoners. The arrangement which promises to give the best results is that followed by the big grain merchants, who make advances to the zamindars or local cultivators before the grain is harvested, and thus have the first and best of the market."

As a successful example of the economy that can be effected by good management, the Inspector-General instances the case of the Dinajpur Jail, where Dr. R. M. Blaker and Jailor Gopal Chandra Chandra purchased 3,000 maunds of paddy in the Bogra district at a cost, including carriage, considerably less than that paid by the Bogra Jail, and when prices rose were able to dispose of the surplus stock at a profit. In this part of his report Dr. Comins has shown great attention to the question of expenditure on diet, and the means by which it can be kept down. Sir Charles Elliott fully endorses his remarks, which, if they are carefully studied by Jail Superintendents, cannot fail to be productive of useful results in the future.

The great increase in the cost of diet in the Purnea Jail is accounted for partly by the special and extra food given to the prisoners under medical advice, and partly by the high price of rice prevailing in the neighbourhood. Since Dr. Kelly took over the management, great economy has been effected in the cost of diet in the Naya Dumka Jail, which last year, leaving out Darjeeling, was the most expensive jail in the province. In the present year Patna heads the list of cheaply managed jails (as far as the cost of diet is concerned), and this result is in no small measure due to the efforts of the Jailor, Babu Lal Behari Singh, who was noticed in last year's report as the jailor at Gaya, which was the most cheaply managed jail in the province in 1891. Dr. Comins also mentions, as worthy of special commendation, Babu Becharam Gupta, the Assistant Jailor of Manbhum, and Munshi Dallaruddin Ahmed and Babu Ganesh Chunder Singh, Assistant Jailors of Pabna.

19. The supply of vegetables and condiments grown in the jail gardens was found to be insufficient for the wants of the prisoners, and in 23 jails condiments to the value of Rs. 3,099 had to be purchased, while in 8 jails vegetables were bought to the value of Rs. 973. This was in a great measure due to the unexpected increase in the jail population, but the Inspector-General also attributes it partly to the want of energetic management of the jail gardens. The number of lime-trees grown in jail gardens was 15,525, or nearly one tree for every prisoner confined in the jails of the province.

Supply of vegetables.

The total value of articles supplied to prisoners, for which no credit is taken in the account, was Rs. 91,441 against Rs. 72,831 in 1891 and Rs. 53,747 in 1890. The increase is said to be chiefly due to the further development of the jail dairies, the value of the produce of which is estimated at Rs. 26,312 in 1892 against Rs. 13,784 in 1891. The value of grain grown in jail lands fell from Rs. 7,124 in 1891 to Rs. 5,786 in 1892, the decrease being due to the scanty rainfall of the preceding year.

Establishment.

20. The cost of establishment was Rs. 3,88,293 as against Rs. 3,84,825 in 1891, being an increase of Rs. 3,468. Hospital charges fell from Rs. 48,751 in 1891 to Rs. 47,368 in 1892, the decrease being attributed to the supply of milk (both cheaper and purer than that bought in the bazar) to the sick prisoners from the jail dairies. Clothing charges rose from Rs. 55,444 1891 to Rs. 73,427 in 1892, and this is accounted for by the increase in the jail population during the year. The expenditure on contingencies was Rs. 1,69,793 against Rs. 1,47,722 in 1891.

Average rate of controllable expenditure.

21. The total average cost per prisoner on account of diet, hospital charges, and clothing amounted to Rs. 33-1 against Rs. 29-11-9 in 1891 and Rs. 31-3-5 in 1890. The jails of Manbhum and Malda show the best results. As in former years, Buxar was the cheapest Central Jail in the province.

Employment of prisoners and manufactures.

22. The daily average number of prisoners sentenced to labour was 15,613 against 14,231 in 1891 and 13,241 in 1890. The daily average number of sick increased from 607 in 1891 to 683, while the number of convalescent and infirm fell from 1,285 to 1,243. The number employed on unremunerative labour increased from 729 in 1891 to 985 in 1892. The net cash earnings show a satisfactory increase, the figures being Rs. 3,23,211 for 1892 against Rs. 1,50,842 in 1890, and Rs. 3,14,021 in 1891. The increase in 1891 was mainly due to the working up of the large stock of castor seed at Rajshahi at the end of 1890, and to the realization of heavy outstandings from the Railway Department during the year, and the improvement thus effected was maintained during the year under review. On the subject of the beneficial effects of labour on health the Inspector-General has some interesting remarks to offer. Weak and sickly prisoners who have hitherto been supposed incapable of any kind of labour have been more extensively employed on gardening and other light kinds of work. In his Resolution on the Report on the Administration of the Jails of Bengal for 1891, the Lieutenant-Governor remarked on the health-giving effects of moderate labour in the case of weakly prisoners, and he now notices with satisfaction that the question has received greater attention on the part of Superintendents during the past year, and that the experiments made have resulted in a general improvement in the health of the prisoners so employed and in diminishing the numbers in the special and convalescent gangs.

23. The average earnings per prisoner sentenced to labour in Central Jails as compared with the figures for 1891 is shown below:—

	1891.	1892.
	Rs.	Rs.
Presidency	91·0	115·1
Buxar	36·0	33·2
Alipore	50·5	29·9
Bhagalpur	14·2	23·3
Midnapore	23·9	22·9
Dacca	9·4	8·9
Rajshahi	8·0	Loss.

In the Presidency Jail the profits from jail manufactures rose from Rs. 1,14,602 in 1891 to Rs. 1,50,011 in 1892. Towards this amount the printing industry contributed Rs. 1,47,345, and the work of this department is favourably noticed by the Inspector-General in his report.

In the Alipore Jail profits on manufactures fell from Rs. 91,386 in 1891 to Rs. 55,580; this is accounted for by the abnormally high price of jute during the year. The packing of quinine in 5-grain packets for sale at post-offices was introduced into this jail in the middle of December, and by the end of the month the outturn had risen to 10,000 daily. In the Bhagalpur Jail the profits show a satisfactory increase from Rs. 17,088 in 1891 to Rs. 30,794 in 1892, and the quality of the outturn of articles manufactured is reported to have much improved. In the Buxar Central Jail there was a slight falling off in the profits on manufacturing operations, while in the Dacca Jail they remained practically unchanged. The Rajshahi Jail compares unfavourably with the other Central Jails of the Province, and the year's operations resulted in a loss of Rs. 3,562-12 principally on the castor-oil manufacture. This is partly accounted for by the deterioration in the value of dead-stock and of other articles improperly shown under that head, amounting to Rs. 4,959-11, which had to be written off. The Inspector-General remarks that the jail is badly situated for the working of an industry of this kind, in which outside competition is so keen, especially as with jail labour the full percentage of oil is not extracted. The profits of minor jails show an increase from Rs. 61,174 in 1891 to Rs. 68,263 in 1892. Darjeeling again heads the list with a profit of Rs. 8,880, or an average of Rs. 102·1 per prisoner sentenced to labour.

Subsidiary Jails.

24. During the year nine out of the 86 subsidiary jails were visited by the Superintendents less than 70 times, the minimum number required.

The number of convicts admitted into the Subsidiary Jails during the year was 17,385 as compared with 15,415 in 1891, the increase being accounted for by the large number of petty thefts following on the general scarcity and the high price of grain. The average detention of convicts was 7·26 days against 7·42 in 1891. In the Alipore (Jalpaiguri), Angul, and Khond Mahal Subsidiary Jails the average detention was over 15 days, in the first case because the prisoners were detained to assist in the construction of the new jail buildings, and in the other cases owing to the difficulties connected with the journey to Cuttack. The Lieutenant-Governor is of opinion that in these places the rules as to detention should be relaxed, as the prisoners might be usefully employed in the Subsidiary Jails in building, cultivation, jungle clearing or any other kind of work. The average detention of under-trial prisoners in Subsidiary Jails for 1892 was 11·30 against 13·55 in 1891. The decrease is all the more satisfactory, as the average number of prisoners admitted into jails was larger than in the preceding year. The total cost of the Subsidiary Jails during the year, excluding Public Works, was Rs. 1,08,994 as compared with Rs. 1,08,963 in 1891. The credits from jail manufactures amounted to Rs. 24,129 against Rs. 20,815.

Water-supply.

25. During the year all the different waters, ordinarily in use in jails, have been analysed by the Chemical Examiner to Government with a view to determining the best source for selection. The principle that all water should be raised by pumps and should be conveyed by means of pipes to the settling tank, boiler and filter, and thence to the different enclosures, has been sanctioned for general application in all Jals and will be gradually introduced as funds are available. In jails where buckets are used instead of pumps, the difficulty hitherto experienced in preventing the pollution of the water before use has been in some measure obviated by altering the shape of the bucket, and by the construction of a funnel-shaped opening in the well. Mr. Larymore's improved boiler for drinking-water has been supplied to several jails during the year, and the scheme for supplying the Arrah jail with water from the Sone Canals has approached completion. All these are very important reforms, and His Honour would be glad to see every jail supplied with such appliances, that water need never be contaminated in handling or carrying. It is of the utmost importance that all water should be really boiled and not merely heated before being used for cooking or drinking.

Accommodation in jails.

26. From statement XV appended to the Report, it appears that the maximum population on any one day considerably exceeded the capacity in many jails. Owing to the large increase in the daily average number of male convicts, and the narrow margin of accommodation allowed, this is often unavoidable. As all the Central Jails were quite full during the year, considerable difficulty was frequently experienced in providing accommodation for prisoners in the sleeping wards. Among the jails in which overcrowding occurred, the Inspector-General especially notices those at Buxar, Dacca, Mymensingh, and Jessore, in which the daily average of male convicts, after deducting the number of sick prisoners in hospital, exceeded by over 50 the capacity of the jails. In such cases the prisoners were allowed to sleep in worksheds specially prepared for them, or in under-trial wards, or in the case of old and weakly prisoners, in the hospitals, whenever the accommodation permitted. In view of the increasing jail population, the necessity for additional accommodation is very great. A sum of one lakh of rupees has been placed at the disposal of the Inspector-General for original works during the present year, and this will be utilized in increasing the accommodation for prisoners in the jails at Bhagalpur, Barisal, Jessore, Malda and Comilla. In accordance with the recent orders of the Lieutenant-Governor, the surplus population of the jails will, as far as possible, be accommodated in the Central Jails in additional wards to be constructed for this purpose.

The daily average number of sick prisoners rose from 610 in 1891 to 687, and this is atributed to the increase in the population of the jails and the general unhealthiness of the year. The jails which have returned the highest ratio of daily average sick were Jessore 87·9, Dinajpur 86·2, Singhbhum 85·9, Naya Dumka 85·0, Malda 71·8, and Champaran 67·2. The number of admissions into hospital from dysentery and diarrhœa exceeds by nearly 1,000 the number for 1891, and this the Inspector-General attributes to the fact that a large number of the prisoners who were received into the jail had for months been subsisting on unnutritious and indigestible food. There were 115 cases of cholera with 60 deaths against 81 cases and 48 deaths in the previous year. The number of cases of cerebro-spinal fever fell from 23 to 9, and the deaths from 18 to 6. There were 45 cases of small-pox and 14 deaths compared with seven cases and one death in 1891. Of the 45 cases no less than 41 occurred in the Dacca Jail, and of these 13 proved fatal. All the prisoners in the jail, numbering 3,465, were vaccinated, and in 1,416 cases the first operation proved successful; the rest were revaccinated, 1,303 with successful results. Fourteen prisoners who were attacked with small-pox in the jail were also vaccinated a month after their recovery with the extraordinary result that in six cases the operation was completely successful. Dr. Cobb's account of the results of his experience (paragraph 102 of the Report) is altogether very remarkable, and deserves the careful perusal of the Medical Faculty. The facts will be further considered in the Vaccination Report.

Jails in which the death-rate was highest.

28. The total number of deaths among convicts in jails and subsidiary jails, including the 112 moribund prisoners who were released under rules 487 and 488 of the Jail Code, was 683 or 43·1 per mille against 454 or 31·4 per mille in 1891. The average death-rate for the last 30 years was 56·3 per mille. Excluding the released moribund prisoners, and 3 cases of death by accident, the number of prisoners who died in other than subsidiary jails during the year was 551, and of these only 166 were received into jail in good health, while 178 were found to be in bad health, and 207 in indifferent health at the time of admission. The following jails show a death-rate higher than 70 per cent. during the past year:—

NOTE.—Including moribund prisoners released during the year 1892.

Of the 15 intermediate jails, 7 are included in the above list and only 4 are district jails. The mortality in the small jail at Naya Dumka is extraordinary, and the case has been specially reported on. There were 20 deaths among the convicts received into the jail, and of this number 9 were due to cholera. There were also six deaths, of which one was from cholera, among the under-trial prisoners. Nearly all these deaths occurred between the months of June and October when cholera and bowel diseases were prevalent throughout the district, and scarcity and want pressed heavily on the surrounding population. It is satisfactory to know that no deaths have occurred in this jail since November last. The Dinajpur Jail is situated in an unhealthy district, and out of the 16 prisoners who died during the year, 7 were admitted in bad health, 7 in indifferent health, and only 2 in good health. The Superintendent is now able to report a considerable improvement in the health of this jail. At Singhbhum, out of 13 convicts who died, 6 were received in bad or indifferent health. Cholera and bowel-complaints were prevalent all over the district during the middle months of the year, and 12 out of the 13 deaths occurred from these diseases. In Jalpaiguri the 7 convicts who died were all received in bad or indifferent health, and in Rangpur, out of the 20 who died in jail, only 5 were in good health when admitted. The mortality among the prisoners received into the Birbhum Jail from the district itself was only 25·9 per mille, and the high rate shown above is due to the transfer of sickly prisoners from the Rangpur Jail to Birbhum. Of the 9 convicts who died in the Bogra Jail during the year, 5 were received in bad or indifferent health. At his inspection of this jail Sir Charles Elliott noticed certain defects in the water-supply and in the position of the hospital quarters, and the attention of the Inspector-General was drawn to these defects, and measures have since been taken to remedy them. In Jessore only 4 out of the 18 convicts who died were received in good health, while of the 3 who died at Malda, 2 were in bad and 1 in indifferent health when admitted. The Committee appointed to enquire into the unhealthiness of the Jails at Purnea, Rangpur, and Dinapur submitted its report during the year. Of the several valuable recommendations made by the Committee some have already been carried out, and effect will gradually be given to the others as opportunities arise.

The Inspector-General attributes the high rate of mortality among prisoners, as compared with 1891, chiefly to the unhealthiness of the year and to the prevailing scarcity. This is to a great extent borne out by a comparison of the figures for the past year, as shown in Statement XVIII appended to the report, with those of the previous year. The number of deaths among convicts in 1892 exceeded the number for 1891 by 118. Among prisoners who had been less than six months in prison when they died, there was an increase of 104 deaths, while among those who had been in prison for terms varying from 6 to 12 months there was an increase of 16 deaths. The number of deaths among convicts who had undergone more than 12 months' imprisonment is practically the same for both years. Deaths among under-trial prisoners rose from 37 in 1891 to 69 in 1892. These figures show clearly that the increase in the number of deaths occurred among those who had recently come into the jail, and this bears out the theory that the high rate of mortality was mainly due to the unhealthiness of the season and to the prevalence of disease and want outside the jails, and not to diseases contracted within the walls. This is no doubt the true explanation of the high rate of mortality throughout the jails of the province. Nevertheless the record of the year is far from encouraging, and Sir Charles Elliott desires to impress once more upon all Superintendents of Jails the necessity of devoting special attention to this the most important of all the questions affecting jail administration. His Honour trusts that the close of the present year will show a large decrease in the prison death-rate throughout the jails of the province.

Inspections.

29. During the period that he was in charge of the department, Dr. Comins visited 28 jails, including all the Central Jails, and 9 Subsidiary Jails. Dr. Lethbridge inspected 8 jails previous to the 28th March, the date on which he made over charge to Dr. Comins. The number of inspections made by Judicial and Magisterial Officers increased from 2,145 in 1891 to 2,236 in 1892, but the number of visits paid by non-official visitors fell from 144 in 1890 and 137 in 1891 to 104 during the year under review. The Lieutenant-Governor himself inspected the jails at the head-quarters of all districts and sub-divisions which he visited and made special inspection notes in four cases.

Officers of the Department.

30. The Lieutenant-Governor is glad to notice the favourable mention made by the Inspector-General of several officers of his Department. Among those who receive special commendation are Dr. Bovill of Berhampore and Dr. Umesh Chandra Mukerji of Bankura. The thanks of the Lieutenant-Governor are due to Dr. Comins himself for his zealous administration of the department during the year. His report is thorough and painstaking, and shows that careful regard to details, which is the basis of all improvement in the health, the cost, and the labour outturn of prisoners, the three points which most require his continued and vigilant attention.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Inspector-General of Jails for information and guidance.

Ordered also, that a copy of this Resolution, and a copy of the Report, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Home Department.

Ordered also, that a copy of this Resolution be published in the Calcutta Gazette.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Chief Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RE-ORGANISATION OF THE STAFF OF SUPERIOR POLICE OFFICERS IN BENGAL AND ASSAM.

POLICE.

RESOLUTION No. 97A—D.

Dated Darjeeling, the 20th May 1893.

READ again—

A letter from this Government, to the Government of India, No. 348, dated 25th January 1892, submitting proposals for the revision of the staff of superior police officers in Bengal and Assam.

Read—

A letter from the Government of India, in the Home Department, No. 180, dated 25th April 1893, forwarding a copy of a Despatch from the Government of India, to Her Majesty's Secretary of State, No. 26, dated 18th January 1893, and of a Despatch from the Secretary of State, No. 9, dated 23rd February 1893, according sanction, with minor modifications, to the scheme of re-organisation proposed by this Government.

THE main principles of the proposals made by this Government for the re-organisation of the staff of superior police officers, which have now been approved by the Government of India and Secretary of State, are (1) that there should be a District Superintendent of Police for every district in Bengal, the present practice, under which five districts are supervised by Assistant Superintendents, being abandoned; and (2) that Assistant Superintendents of Police should only be provided for the most important sub-divisional charges and as a reserve for leave vacancies. The effect of these proposals is that the number of District Superintendents will be increased from 50 to 55, the future distribution being as shown below:—

For charge of districts in Bengal	45
Commandant, Lushai Police	1
Personal Assistant to the Inspector-General of Police ...	1
Assistant Inspectors-General of Police for Railways ...	2
District Superintendents of Police for Assam	6
Total ...	55

The existing number of sanctioned Assistant Superintendents will be reduced from 36 to 29, and the number of probationary Assistant Superintendents from 15 to 8.

The distribution of Assistant Superintendents will be as follows:—

Employed in Assam		5
Lushai Hills and large subdivisions		8
Deputy Commissioner of Police, Calcutta		1
In charge of Special Branch		1
		15
Provision for furlough at 20 per cent. on 72 charges, including 2 Deputy Inspectors-General		14
Total ...		29

2. At the same time the appointments of District Superintendents and of Assistant Superintendents will be regraded thus:—

Present scale.					Sanctioned scale.
District Superintendents of Police.
		Rs.		Rs.			Rs.		Rs.

Probationers.

		Rs.		Rs.			Rs.		Rs.
15	at	250	=	3,750	8	at	250	=	2,000

Decrease = Rs. 1,750 per mensem.

The grades of District Superintendents are increased from five to six, and the grades of Assistant Superintendents are reduced from three or two.

These orders have been communicated to the Local Government with instructions to give effect to them gradually, so that the proposed regrading of District Superintendents may, as far as this can be arranged without serious inconvenience, be brought into force pari passu with the reduction in the strength of Assistant Superintendents and Probationers.

3. In consequence of the reduction which has already been effected in the number of Assistants and probationers, and of the recent retirement and deputation of officers whose places have not been filled up, the Lieutenant-Governor finds himself in a position to give immediate effect to the proposed revision of establishment, so far as numbers are concerned, and although it is not possible at present to fill up all the appointments according to the revised scale, a redistribution of grades in the direction sanctioned can at once be made. Excluding Messrs. Savi and Gayer, whose lien on their appointments will be suspended, there are at present 93 officers on the establishment against 92, which is the full number sanctioned by the Government of India and Secretary of State, and, under the authority now conveyed by the Government of India, the Lieutenant-Governor is pleased to direct that these officers shall at once be redistributed into grades as follows:

				Rs.
8	District Superintendents,	at Rs. 1,000	each	8,000
2	Ditto,	at „ 900	„	1,800
7	Ditto,	at „ 800	„	5,600
12	Ditto,	at „ 700	„	8,400
12	Ditto,	at „ 600	„	7,200
14	Ditto,	at „ 500	„	7,000
55				38,000
14	Assistant Superintendents	at Rs. 400	each	5,600
15	Ditto,	at „ 300	„	4,500
29				10,100
9	Probationers	at „ 250	„	2,250
Total 93	at a monthly cost of			50,350

4. This re-arrangement shows one probationary officer, and a monthly expenditure of Rs. 150 in excess of the sanctioned scale. The excess expenditure is, however, apparent only, as it includes the salary of an officer (Mr. Halliday) on deputation, which is debitable to another department, and not to the Police budget. The probationary officer in excess will be absorbed in the first vacancy that occurs. The re-distribution in the grades of District Superintendents on the exact lines of the sanctioned scale will be enforced as oppportunities occur, but it cannot be completely carried out until vacancies arise in the first grade of District Superintendents, and the number of officers in that grade is reduced to five. As such vacancies occur, there will be a re-adjustment in the lower grades until the sanctioned scale is reached.

5. Probationers who have passed their departmental examinations and have been confirmed in the department will be allowed to officiate as Assistant Superintendents, and draw the higher salary of the grade in which they may be acting.

6. The following statement shows the effect of the orders now passed. The names of the officers who receive promotion are printed in italics, and their promotion will be duly notified in the Gazette:—

Explanation.—... indicates that no rain has fallen. If the return for any day has not been received, the corresponding space is left blank. If any of the returns are wanting, the corresponding spaces in the total rainfall columns are left blank. With reference to the columns of rainy days, the definition of a rainy day is when at least 0·1 inch of rain has fallen.

CALCUTTA, the 23rd May 1893.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING 8 A.M., SATURDAY, THE 20TH MAY 1893.

At the beginning of the week pressure was considerably above the normal in the north-western districts, and from there excess slowly diminished towards the south-east of the Bay where there was a small defect. In consequence of this arrangement of pressure, the most prominent feature being its uniformity, calm clear weather prevailed over the whole of Bengal and Orissa. With the almost continuous sunshine, temperature from being slightly below the normal in all districts, began to rise, and readings in excess of the normal were first reported from North Bengal and Assam. The area of excessive temperature gradually extended to the south-west, till by the end of the week there was a small excess even in Orissa and Chota Nagpur.

Pressure began to fall early in the week both in Bengal and over the Bay, and this downward change continued steadily, and latterly with somewhat greater rapidity in the south of the Bay, where gradients became much steeper, especially during the last two days of the week. These changes in the south of the Bay led to unsettled weather which advanced up the east of the Bay and caused general rain in Burmah. A few showers fell in East and North Bengal owing to the advance of moist winds, and this formed almost the whole of the rainfall received during the week.

The week has been characterised in Bengal by fine settled weather with rising, and almost for the first time this year, general excessive temperature.

Pressure.—A steady fall continued slowly almost throughout the week, and from being a tenth of an inch above the normal, readings fell to nearly a tenth of an inch below. The means for the whole week are practically normal, the difference being generally only a few thousandths of an inch.

Temperature—Rose steadily and at times rapidly, the rise beginning in the north-east of the province and spreading gradually to the south-west. It was only on the last day of the week that readings in Orissa and Chota Nagpur rose above the normal. Though there was general defect at the beginning of the week, means are above the normal in all districts except Chota Nagpur and Orissa, when there is defect of less than 1°. The mean excess varies from 0·4° in South-West Bengal to 3·9° in North Bengal. Excess is much greater in Assam, being more than 6°.

Rainfall.—With the exception of a few scattered showers on the first day of the week and again towards the close, rainless weather prevailed. On an average East Bengal received ·2 inch, South-West Bengal ·1 inch, North Bengal and Orissa less than ·1 inch. In Chota Nagpur and Bihar no rain was reported.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Saturday, the 20th of May 1893:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.
